We Like Bikes, We Ride Bikes, We Work on Bikes Nothing quite matches the experience of riding a bicycle. The freedom of the open road, the fresh air, the individual peace offered by exploring the woods on two wheels is one of a kind. And this part of Missouri is one of the best places to ride, there are few places in the Midwest that are as perfect for riding as Springfield, Missouri and the Ozarks.

Bicycles are not unlike cars and to keep them performing their best they require some regular maintenance. When our customers bring their bikes to us they receive a personal experience of belonging. We keep a close relationship with many of our customers by talking to them, getting to know them and learning what kind of riding experience they are looking for. That personal touch is why Cycles Unlimited is the best place in Springfield to keep your bike tuned right.

Personal Touch, Professional Pride In fact the owner of Cycles Unlimited, Ashley, has been servicing bicycles and working in bike shops here in Missouri since he was 12 years old. Today, he's like a blue-collar chef in a upscale restaurant because on any given day you can expect to see him throwing wrenches at bikes when you walk in his store. That kind of life experience and hands-on attention is hard to find in any profession. He is the true definition of a locally-owned, small business providing a personal touch.

But Ashley is not the only excellence on hand. Jason, our service manager also doubles as one of two Serotta fit specialists on staff. Jason has also been trained by the Barnett Bicycle Institute making him BSE Certified. He demonstrates a mastery of the cycling mechanics and physiology that only comes from high-level education and years upon years of experience. Plus, we commit ourselves to being patient with novices as well as all levels of enthusiasm.

We love bikes, tolerate any bike problem well, and love to share what we've learned. Our diagnosis is excellent, but we are committed to continuous improvement. We're earnest, play no games, keep the objective in view, and press on, and most importantly we're a heck of a lot of fun.

Ultimate Experience Bicycles are art, but bicycle mechanics are not. Eliminate the guesswork, eliminate the reliance on subjective "feel," eliminate the reliance on memorization. This is the unique Cycles Unlimited philosophy.

Everything you'll ever need to take care of your bike can be completed by our experienced service mechanics. Keeping your bike in perfect shape has never been so easy.

Regardless of what you ride it is our mission to keep your bike shifting like a dream and get you back on your bike as quickly as possible.
